

Center for Faculty Development & Diversity April Highlights

2017 Narrative Medicine Symposium

Friday, April 7 | 9:00 am-2:00 pm | One Brigham Circle 4-002B

This symposium will emphasize the personal and professional significance of storytelling for clinicians, researchers and hospital staff. Enhance your narrative communication skills as a framework for care to engage more empathically and collaboratively with patients, colleagues and the broader medical community.

BWH/HMS Wine & Cheese for Postdocs

Thursday, April 20 | 5:00-7:00 pm | New Research Building, Room 1031

Join your colleagues after work to expand your network and socialize in an informal setting. Wine, beer and soft drinks—as well as cheese, crackers and fruit—will be provided.

Building Your Personal Brand: an OWC Career Development Roundtable

Tuesday, April 25 | 12:00-1:00 pm | BTM 2006B

Today, even academics are required to be more entrepreneurial and have a personal impact. That's why personal branding has become a critical element of every physician leader's skill set. Join us in an interactive discussion, sponsored by the BWH Office for Women's Careers.

Credit Reports and Credit Scores

Wednesday, April 26 | 12:00-1:00 pm | Zinner Breakout Room

This seminar will provide practical information and answer questions in regards to understanding credit reports and credit scores. Enhance your overall financial wellness by learning how to manage your personal credit scores.

Informational Interviewing for Postdocs: An Excellent Way to Enhance Your Career Search

Wednesday, April 26 | 3:30-5:30 pm | New Research Building, Room 1031

This workshop will provide advice on how to identify individuals, reach out for an informational interview, and structuring the interview. Tips will be provided on how to follow up after the discussion to build meaningful connections and make the most of the informational interview.
